Preface

This report contains a summary presentation, in tabular form, of vital events data for calendar year 1981. Data relating to population size, births, deaths, marriages, divorces and annulments, and adoptions are included. The data presented for births and deaths refer to Alaska residents only. Marriages, divorces and annulments, and adoptions data presented refer to events taking place in Alaska, i.e., not necessarily to Alaskan residents.

Introduction and Overview

The purpose of this report is twofold: to provide data which can be used as a basis for planning and policy decisions for health and social services agencies; and to provide the citizens of Alaska with information about the vital statistics of their state.

Sources of Data

The sources of the data included in this report are certificates of birth, death, marriage, and divorce or annulment, and reports of adoption which were registered with the State of Alaska, Department of Health and Social Services, Bureau of Vital Records. This report also includes birth and death events that occurred to Alaskan residents while outside the state.

Time Period Reported

The time period reported is the 1981 calendar year. The vital events which occurred in 1981 but were reported in 1982 (before March 31), are also included.

Population Data

The population data presented are from the Alaska Population Overview, 1981, prepared by the State of Alaska, Department of Labor, Research and Analysis section. These are estimates of Alaska's population as of July 1, 1981, not, in most cases, census counts. Population data are used to calculate crude rates and cause-specific rates for mortality data (see page 6 for formulas). Alaska's 1981 population estimates, reported by census area, are in Table 2.

Geographic Classification

Historically, three regional classifications were used in data tables for Alaska: Census Division; Native Regional Corporation (NRC); and Health Service Area (HSA). These classifications are illustrated in Figures 1, 2, and 3. This report uses the 1980 census classification of 23 census areas and 22 sub-areas for most tables. Census areas can be converted to comparable NRC's and HSA's by using Tables 1 and 2. (Note the table on page 32 which gives the HSA classification instead of Census Division due to space limitations of the computer generated tables. Also, before 1981, Cantwell data were included in the Northern HSA and Chugach NRC. Now, these data are included in South Central HSA and Ahtna NRC.)

Changes in Cause-of-Death Classification

Beginning with the 1980 mortality data, the Office of Information Systems adopted a new classification standard for cause-of-death data. The form is 72 Selected Causes of Death, adapted from one of the special lists for mortality tabulations recommended by the World Health Organization for use with the Ninth Revision of the International Classification of Diseases (ICDA-9). The National Center of Health Statistics (NCHS) and most states already use the 72 Selected Causes of Death list in their statistical publications.

In 1981, we modified the 72 Selected Causes of Death List. Category 14, External Causes of Injury and Poisoning (Including Accidents), was divided into 14 individual causes-of-death groups. In 1980, Category 14 had only two individual groupings. The new division displays the type of accidental deaths more clearly. Appendix I shows how the individual causes-of-death are categorized in the new list of 84 Selected Causes of Death.

Definitions

The following is a glossary of technical terms used in the report.

Birthweight	The weight of the fetus or infant at delivery.
Fetal Death	A product of conception of longer than 20 weeks gestation that shows no signs of life after delivery.
ICD-8	Eighth Revision of the International Classification of Diseases. ICD-8 was used to classify cause-of-death data for the period 1968 - 1978.
ICD-9	Ninth Revision of the International Classification of Diseases. ICD-9 has been used since 1979 for the classification of cause-of-death data.
Infant Death	A death of an infant under one year of age.
Live Birth	A birth that shows any signs of life after delivery.
Neonatal Death	A death occurring to an infant less than 28 days of age.

OOS	Out of State
Place of Occurrence	The place where the event occurred, regardless of the place of residence.
Place of Residence	The usual place where the person to whom the event occurred lives or lived. For births, residence is the mother's usual place of residence; for deaths, residence is the residence of the decedent.
Race	Race for mother, adopted child and decedent (suicide deaths) is as stated on the certificate. Race of child (births) is determined from the race of parents.
Underlying cause-of-death	The condition producing the chain of events leading to death.

Computation of Rates

Vital statistics provide better measures of health status when they are related to the characteristics of the population. Because human populations vary in size and composition, and the number of vital events that occur depends on both these factors, rates are used to make accurate comparisons.

Rates can control for population variability by reporting the number of events per unit of population (or other standard denominator). The crude rates presented control only for population size; they do not control for variability in population composition, e.g., variability in age, sex, or race distributions of the population.

Formulas

Crude birth rate $= \frac{\text{number of live births}}{\text{1981 population}} \times 1{,}000$

Crude death rate $= \frac{\text{number of deaths}}{\text{1981 population}} \times 1{,}000$

Crude marriage rate $= \frac{\text{number of marriages}}{\text{1981 population}} \times 1{,}000$

Crude divorce rate $= \frac{\text{number of divorces*}}{\text{1981 population}} \times 1{,}000$

*includes annulments

Limitations

Caution must be taken in forming conclusions on the basis of the various rates included in this report. Remember when considering rates, all statistics are subject to chance variation. For example, a small difference in the absolute number of vital events occuring in a small population may result in a large change in their rates of occurrence. In terms of Alaska's vital statistics, many of the rates shown in this report are based on a very small population, a very small number of events, or both. Readers should also keep in mind that the rates presented are one-year rates. One-year rates are subject to random fluctuations and should not be used to infer patterns or trends in vital events.

About every ten years, the document known as the International Classification of Diseases (ICD) is revised. Be aware that by reflecting current disease classification, each revision produces some break in the comparability of cause-of-death statistics. Cause-of-death comparisons between pre-1979 and 1979 - 1981 data, require consideration of these changes.

Vital Events Certificates and Lists of Variables

The vital statistics data presented represent only a part of the information reported on vital events certificates. Other variables not reported in this document for births, deaths, marriages, divorces and annulments, and adoptions, but which can be made available upon user request, are described in this section. Tabulations and cross-tabulations of these data items can be provided if the cost to the state is not substantial, and the burden on staff and other resources is not unreasonable.
